DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 17-18, 21 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Horikoshi et al. (US Patent Application Publication, US 2002/0048975 A1).

Horikoshi et al. discloses an electrical connector [figure 8] comprising:

- a first article [42] includes an electric wire [46];
- a second article [28] includes a conductive part [38];
- a housing [72] is fitted into a recess of the first article by rigid locking pawls or wings formed on both side of the housing [figure 3]; and
- a crimping contact [74] having a contact part [77] and a crimpable connecting part [76A, 76B].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 2839

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 19-20, 22-23 and 25-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Horikoshi et al. and Myers (US 4,778,407).

Madsen et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the wings/locking pawls are resilient and deflectable.

Myers discloses an electrical connector [figure 1] comprises a housing [14] having a pair of resilient and deflectable arms [26] formed on both sides of the housing.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to modify the housing of Horikoshi et al. to provide the resilient and deflectable arms or wings as taught by Myers for the purpose of facilitating the connection between the housing and a mating connector, as is well known in the art of the electrical connectors.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to new claims 17-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
